

A one planet life

What if we all lived like we had five sets of hands, five mouths, five hearts with five heart's desires?
Well, in North America we actually do live this way.

The fact is, if everyone on the planet lived like us, we would need five Earths to provide enough resources, energy and places to dump our garbage and pollution.
But, of course, we only have one planet Earth.

So this Earth day, you could just buy green...

...or you could start to live green. Because when it comes to living on Earth it's all about the number 'one'.

A one planet life is possible.
